

Medidata and eClinical Solutions LLC Mark 10-Year Anniversary Milestone With Expansion Agreement to Adopt Medical Imaging and Workflow Solutions

February 15, 2018

Industry-leading Data Management Provider Adopts Rave Imaging to Optimize Workflow, Simplify Image and Data Collection, and Improve Efficiency in Clinical Development

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 15, 2018-- Medidata (NASDAQ: MDSO) today announced that eClinical Solutions LLC, an industry-leading provider of end-to-end data management services and cloud based products for clinical data optimization, is expanding their technology partnership to further improve clinical trial processes and help life sciences researchers deliver innovative therapies to patients with the adoption of Rave Imaging.

With this new multi-year agreement, eClinical Solutions will build on the success of its 10-year relationship with Medidata by further expanding use of the Medidata Clinical Cloud[®] and implementing Rave Imaging. eClinical Solutions' customers will have the opportunity to leverage Rave Imaging to transform a manually intensive process into intelligent, guided workflows that align with the industry's evolving clinical development strategies. By optimizing workflows, reducing manual steps and increasing data visibility, life sciences researchers will improve efficiencies, minimize the risk and complexity of medical image management in clinical trials, and facilitate accurate, timely completion of study goals.

"At eClinical Solutions, we are dedicated to delivering technologies that give our clients more control over their increasingly complex clinical data with the goal of accelerating the clinical research process," said Raj Indupuri, eClinical Solutions CEO and co-founder. "We are excited to continue building our relationship with Medidata by expanding the use of the Medidata platform."

A Medidata partner since 2007, eClinical Solutions has accreditations to implement and market multiple Medidata product offerings, including Rave EDC, Rave Coder, Rave Safety Gateway, Rave Patient Cloud, and Rave RTSM. Over the last decade, eClinical Solutions has conducted more than 450 studies on the Medidata platform.

"Our decade long partnership with eClinical Solutions reflects our shared commitment to revolutionizing clinical trials," said Glen de Vries, Medidata president and co-founder. "We're honored to be eClinical Solutions exclusive electronic data capture platform, and look forward to another decade of accelerating research, and bringing medical breakthroughs to patients."
